

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1864.

For The Evening Telegraph.

VIVE LE MARINE!

BY THE REV. D. WASHBURN.
Aye, we're them a wreath of perennial bloom,
From godliest flowers whence Freedom hath sprung.
Shrining as beacons that light up the gloom,
With their Divinity, their power!—Let us
Let sea unto the echo back their salute,
And castle-hewn mountains our sea-kings proclaim,
Aglow with their triumphs, and proud of their fame!
Let Reverses, and Portion, with DAHLGREN, and Forno,
The heights of renown with DUCATI ASCEND!—
These quick with the dead we fear not to blend,
Lest future of their should tarnish a name;
Now others may chisel their moulderings stones,
We'll have none alive as our LAWRENCE and
JONES,
Who still walk the deck, and the "Old Flag" defend.
Philadelphia, August, 1864.

PARTY PLATFORMS.

PLATFORM OF THE CLEVELAND CONVENTION.

The following declarations were made by the Convention which nominated FARNWORTH and COONHORN of Cleveland, May 25, 1864:

First. The Federal Union shall be preserved.

Second. The Constitution and laws of the United States shall be observed.

Third. The Rebellion must be suppressed by force of arms, and without compromise.

Fourth. The rights of free speech, free press, and the freedom of the press, and the right of trial by jury in districts where martial law has been proclaimed.

Fifth. The Rebellion has destroyed slavery, and must be restored, and to secure to all men absolute equality before the law.

Sixth. All the rights of property are demanded at all times in the administration of the Government, and in times of war the want of them is criminal.

Seventh. The rights of all men, except in crime, and subject to martial law, are inviolable, and the principles of the Declaration of American Liberty; any violation of it cannot be overlooked.

Eighth. The National policy known as the "Monroe doctrine" has become a recognized principle and the establishment of an anti-slavery Government and Government by any foreign power cannot be tolerated.

Ninth. The general support of the nation are the national institutions, and the earnest endeavor to make the Union and army, and the Government, and the people, and the soldiers, and sailors, and the home and foreign settlers, and the distribution among the soldiers and naval settlers, is a measure of justice.

TENTH. The platform of the President, adopted by the existing crisis, and should be upheld by Constitutional Convention.

Eleventh. The Constitution should be so amended that the President and Vice President shall be elected by the people of the United States.

Twelfth. The question of the reconstruction of the Southern States belongs to the people, through their representatives in Congress, and not to the Executive.

Thirteenth. That the confederation of the lands of Kentucky, and their distribution among the soldiers and naval settlers, is a measure of justice.

PLATFORM OF THE NATIONAL UNION CONVENTION.

The following are the resolutions adopted by the Convention which nominated LINCOLN and JOHNSON of Baltimore, June 9th, 1864:

Resolved, That it is the highest duty of every American citizen to maintain against all their enemies the principles of the Constitution and the paramount authority of the Government, justice and the welfare of the States; and that, laying aside all differences and political opinions, we pledge ourselves as Union men, and as Americans, to do everything in our power to sustain the Government in quelling by force of arms the rebellion, and to bring the punishment due to those who have aided and abetted the Rebels and traitors arrayed against us.

Resolved, That we will support the determination of the government of the United States not to compromise with the Rebels, or to offer any terms of peace except such as may be based upon an "unconditional surrender," and that we will remain true to the Constitution and laws of the United States, and that we call upon the Government to make no compromise with the Rebels, but with the utmost vigor to the complete suppression of the Rebellion, in full reliance upon the self-sacrifice, self-sacrifice, and self-sacrifice of valor and the unyielding devotion of the American people to their country and its free institutions.

Resolved, That we will support the cause, and now commence the strength of this Rebellion, and that we must be always and everywhere hostile to the principles of reprobate Government, Justice and the Nation, and that we will never consent to any compromise from the soil of the republic, and that we uphold and maintain the acts and proclamations by which we have been called to defend the Union, and that we will arm a death blow at this gigantic evil. We are, however, of course, willing to make such an amendment to the Constitution as will conform it to the exigencies of the case, and now commence the strength of this Rebellion, and that we must be always and everywhere hostile to the principles of reprobate Government, Justice and the Nation, and that we will never consent to any compromise from the soil of the republic, and that we uphold and maintain the acts and proclamations by which we have been called to defend the Union, and that we will arm a death blow at this gigantic evil.

After following the Indians for some time they found the number increasing, and too strong to make a stand upon them without a larger force, so we turned and retreated. The Indians were of the Cheyenne tribe.

This skirmishing occurred about eight or ten miles west of the farthest point reached by the first force which went out from Marysville, under command of Col. H. C. Blodget.

On Tuesday, 19th, last, sixty or seventy Indians attacked Pawnee Ranch, but were repulsed, with two of the number killed, by about thirty men who defended the place. In this encounter, a stage-driver named California Joe was severely wounded, and is now at Fort Kearney.—St. Joseph Herald, Aug. 27.

—Prince Napoleon has left Paris to avoid meeting the King of Spain, for whom, as a Bourbon, he has no affection. He went with a party of gentlemen on a yachting tour on the Scottish waters.

INLET HOUSE,
ATLANTIC CITY,
NEW JERSEY.

GEO. D. GLENN, Proprietor.
(Long and leisurely hours, proprietor of OYSTER BAY, SIXTH AND CHESTNUT Streets.)
Parties accommodated with Boats, Fishing Lines, &c., &c.
Cars run to the house every twenty minutes.

EXCHANGE HOTEL, ATLANTIC CITY.—
The subscriber, grateful for past favors, renders thanks to his patrons and the public for the generous contributions made to him during the past summer, and for the continued patronage of the season, and ready to receive boarders, permanent and transient, on the most moderate terms. The bar will be open daily, and the dining room will be open for dinner, and the tables will be set with the best of service, and the memory of those who have fallen in the defense shall be held in honor.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

All the sons of the American people are due to the solders and sailors of the army and navy, who have periled their lives in defense of their country, and to the honor of the flag; that the Nation owes to them something more than compensation of their patriotism and valor, and ample and permanent provision for those of their survivors who have lost their loved ones in the service of the country; and that the memories of those who have fallen in the defense shall be held in honor.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and responsibilities of the rebellion, and that we are fully satisfied that it is demanded by the emergency and essential to the preservation of the nation, and as within the Constitution and the laws, that the cause, and now the existence of slavery within the limits of the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That we approve and applaud the practical wisdom, the unshaken patriotism and unwavering devotion to the Constitution and the principles of American liberty, with which the American people have discharged, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, the great duties and